Tour Experience

Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary is a bird sanctuary in the Mandya District of Karnataka, in India. It is also called Pakshi Kashi. It is on Bird Paradise for bird watchers and nature enthusiasts. It's designated as Karnataka's first Ramsar Site due to International significance and also recognized as an important Bird and Biodiversity Area by Birdlife International.

It's inhabited by tropical moist deciduous, Tropical thorn and Riverine type of forest. Its home to over 221 species of birds and several rare and endangered species of mammals, butterflies, reptiles, fishes etc.

Ranganathittu is a bird sanctuary that can be visited throughout the year by bird lovers. Easily accessible from Bangalore, enroute to Mysore, visiting this place is a great option for both children and adults.

It is the largest bird sanctuary in the state, 40 acres in area, and comprises six islets on the banks of the Kaveri river. These islets, originally numbering 25, soon started attracting birds. The ornithologist Salim Ali observed that the islets formed an important nesting ground for a large variety of birds, and persuaded the king of Mysore to declare the area a protected area in 1940.
